

EDSL 370D1. ISSUES AND PRACTICES IN TEACHING INDIGENOUS LANGUAGES.

Credits: 1.5

Offered by: Integrated Studies in Ed (Faculty of Education)

This course is not offered this catalogue year.

Description

Social, linguistic, and epistemological issues in Indigenous language teaching and learning, drawing on academic and community knowledge bases. Analyzes approaches to the development of Indigenous language proficiency through an examination of specific Indigenous language teaching methods for first language and additional language learners. Emphasis on the relation between instruction and language policy and planning as well as instruction and students own language learning and maintenance. Focuses on how to develop teaching practices and how to evaluate language learning.

- Restriction: Open only to students enrolled in First Nations and Inuit programs offered by the Faculty of Education
- No credit will be given for this course unless both EDSL 370D1 and EDSL 370D2 are successfully completed in consecutive terms

Most students use Visual Schedule Builder (VSB) to organize their schedules. VSB helps you plan class schedules, travel time, and more.

Launch Visual Schedule Builder