

FINE 460. FINANCIAL ANALYTICS.

Credits: 3

Offered by: Management (Desautels Faculty Management)

This course is not offered this catalogue year.

Description

An extensive study of the empirical methods casually used in the different subfields of finance. Examination of the most popular statistics models used in finance, both from a theoretical and practical point of view. An important emphasis will be put on the distinction between models of financial mechanisms, and those motivated purely by efficacy.

- Prerequisites: MGCR 341
