Description

Contemporary debates in the field of trans*feminist studies, with an emphasis on the historical emergence of trans studies in relation to feminist and queer scholarship and activism. Consideration of the politics of sex/gender transformation vis-à-vis race-racism, sexuality, class, culture, nation, and social justice.

- Prerequisite(s): GSFS 200 OR GSFS 250 and any GSFS 300 level course
- Restriction(s): Not open to students who have taken WMST 401 when the topic was "Trans*Feminisms".
- Students are required to take the intro course(s) and one GSFS course at the 300 level before taking GSFS courses at the 400 level.

Most students use Visual Schedule Builder (VSB) to organize their schedules. VSB helps you plan class schedules, travel time, and more.
