

POLI 676. SOCIOLOGICAL ISSUES IN INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS.

---

Credits: 3

Offered by: Political Science (Graduate Studies)

This course is not offered this catalogue year.

Description

The main theories and issues in international political sociology as an approach to international relations. Focus is on the political constitution of international social artefacts such as institutions, norms, identities, practices and communities.

- Prerequisites: No previous course work in psychology is required. In addition to political science graduate students who are specializing in international relations and, subject to limitations of class size, this seminar is open to other interested political science graduate students and third year honours undergraduates in political science, history and psychology.
- Note: The field is International Politics.

Most students use Visual Schedule Builder (VSB) to organize their schedules. VSB helps you plan class schedules, travel time, and more.

Launch Visual Schedule Builder